LOCAL BRIEFS.

Postal cards are now used for ball votations.

Small watermelons sold yesterday for 50 cents.

Judge W. J. Clarke has been in our city for several days.

Major Robert Bingham was registered at the Yarrbrough House yesterday.

Green Turtle Soup at Tommy Harrison's restaurant to day. Families supplied.

We were pleased to see in our office yesterday W. J. Yates, Esq., of the Charlotte Democrat.

A special meeting of Hook & Ladder Company will be held this evening at 8 o'clock, at Fireman's Hall.

T. D. Gillespie and family, of Charlotte, passed through this city Wednesday en route for Kittrell's springs.

The brick work on the new wing of the Yarrbrough House will be completed before the expiration of this week.

To judge by the dullness which reigned in the Mayor's Court yesterday, the police are having an easy time of it.

The collection of internal revenue in this 4th district for the fiscal year ending June 30th, amounted to $445,956 81.

We understand that our enterprising fellow-citizens, Messrs. Edwards & Broughton, proprietors of the Spirit of the Age, will start a book-bindingery in the course of a few weeks.

The hail storm in this county, which we noticed in our yesterday's issue, was very severe in Barton's Creek Township.
The hail stones averaged from the size of a partridge egg to that of a hen's.
The storm occurred between 12 m. and 1 p. m.
Fruit trees and crops suffered severely.

The work house of this county has only one inmate and his name is Ben Jones, a colored youth of this city about 18 years of age, who is working out a bill of costs which amounts to $202.04.
Mr. J. H. Ferguson is the Superintendent of the Workhouse, and we learn that he makes an efficient officer.

On Wednesday we received a couple of advertisements, ordered for a week, which set forth the article of the advertiser to dispose of certain articles. Yesterday morning they were ordered out as they had accomplished the purpose for which they had been inserted. This does not "adorn a tale," but it certainly "points a moral"—there is virtue in printers ink, that is, when used in the DAILY NEWS.

We acknowledge the reception from R. W. Best, the clever and enterprising Hillsborough street grocer, for a basket of nice peaches directed to our "better half," in our care. Fortunately (when the peaches came) our "better half" was absent from the city and we ate them.
They were large, nice and juicy. Mr.
Best has made arrangements to keep them during the season fresh from the vines twice a day.

THE BASE BALL MATCH AT ENFIELD.
—A friend living at the above mentioned good old North Carolina town sends us the following brief mention of the base ball match played there on Tuesday between the Old Dominion Club, of Petersburg, and the Enfield Club:

"Quite a large crowd assembled in this place to-day (Tuesday) to be present at the picnic and to witness the base ball match between our boys and the Petersburgers. After indulging in various amusements and enjoying an elegant dinner, at 3 p. m. the crowd adjoined to the play ground to witness the match game.

Our boys met with a Waterloo defeat, the score resulting in 92 for the Cock-sanders and 10 for the Enfieldians. This is a bad beat it must be acknowledged, but then it should be taken into consideration that our boys are new hands at the game and have had but very little practice. The entire day was an enjoyable one and nothing occurred to mar in any particular its pleasures. Our Petersburg friends may be always assured of receiving a cordial welcome whenever they visit our good little town."

THE CONCERT AT TUCKER HALL.
—The Concert at Tucker Hall last evening for the benefit of the Orphan Asylum was a decided success. The house was filled from pit to gallery and the receipts doubtless large.

The Concert given by the Baptist Female Seminary, recently purchased from the celebrated manufactory of Hallett, Davis & Co., of Boston. It is universally admired by all, and regarded as the finest instrument ever used in this Hall. We learn that Principal Hobgood will order, in a few weeks several square grands from the same house.

Lack of space prevents a more extended notice.

EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION.

SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The Convention was called to order at 10 o'clock, the President, Hon. W. H.
Battle, in the chair.

Prayer by Rev. Dr. Atkinson, of Virginia.

Messrs. Pritchard, Mangum and Branson, of the city came forward and enrolled their names as members.

Governor Caldwell asked that his name be registered from Burke instead of Wake.

Minutes of yesterday read and approved.

Hon. John W. Norwood proceeded to deliver an essay on

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

which came up to the standard of the excellent writings of this gentleman.

At the conclusion of the essay, Prof.
McIver offered a motion to restrict debate to ten minutes length on any subject before the convention.

Dr. Craven, Gov. Caldwell and J. H.
Harris, of Wake, opposed the motion which was withdrawn by the mover.

Reports of committees being in order Major Bingham submitted the report from the committee on

COMMON SCHOOLS

and reported as follows:

The Committee to whom was referred the resolution in reference to the present school law of the State and other resolutions, regret that the time allowed them within which to report, has been inadequate to a proper discharge of the important duties assigned them. They can only state in general terms that the great want is that of a proper public zeal on the subject of education, and the means necessary for the support of schools.

It appears that there are about three hundred and fifty thousand children in the State between the ages of six and twenty-one years, and that the law provides an annual school fund of about two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, making about seventy cents for each child.

The Constitution requires that a free public school shall be taught four months each year in every school district in the State.

The law provides, that the question of levying an additional school tax shall be submitted to the qualified voters in each county separately.

The committee are informed that very few counties in the State have voted for the additional tax, so that seventy cents a year for each child is all that the law provides for carrying on the schools, according to the requirements of the constitution. It is needless to say that the means provided is altogether inadequate to the end.

These additional facts are striking and suggestive. The population of the State in the year 1870 was 1,071,361.
Of this population there were 397,690 persons who could not read and write—160,397 whites and 230,000 colored.

There are about 350,000 children in the State, 230,000 of them are white and 120,000 are colored.

In that year, 65,301 white children and 11,419 colored, attended school.

The Report of the Superintendent of Education shows that there were last year in public schools about 50,681 children—34,294 white and 16,387 colored, and 7,055 in private schools.

In the year 1860, 116,576 children attended school.

In the year 1870, 100,808 attended school.

The committee beg leave to report the following resolutions:

1. That the dignity and importance of the Educational interest of a people cannot be overestimated, and they may never be neglected but at the hazard of consequences which no friend of humanity can contemplate without fearful apprehension.

2. That the general Educational interests of this State are deplorable and alarming in a high degree, and are such as to require and command the noblest and most self-sacrificing efforts of every true son of North Carolina to relieve her from such serious embarrassment.

3. That the Chairman of this Convention appoint a committee of seven members, charged with the following duties:

1st. To prepare and have published and circulated throughout the State an address to the people, in which it shall be shown that the small amount of money the State does raise by annual taxation for educational purposes can be most beneficially used by the establishment, in each school district, of a common school, in which shall be taught spelling, reading, writing, primary geography and the elementary rules of arithmetic at least; and that said school be kept up at least during four months of the year; and that the text books for the use of said schools shall be furnished by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

2d. That the committee shall correspond with members of the General Assembly upon this subject, and shall memorialize the General Assembly to pass such laws as may be necessary to effectuate the purposes of this resolution.

3d. That in the judgment of this Convention national aid should be extended to the States for the promotion of education, and particularly popular education, and that the chair appoint a committee of — to memorialize Congress on this subject.

4. That this Convention respectfully and earnestly request and urge every friend of the State, the people, and particularly the clergy, all public speakers and the Press, to be zealous and constant in making efforts to arouse the whole people to a realizing sense of the paramount importance of Education, and of the overruling necessity for universal, active and cordial co-operation among them to the rising and coming generations, and thus avoid the blight and disgrace of ignorance.

A lengthy and interesting discussion ensued on the adoption of the report.

Prof. McIver moved to strike out resolution three for the reasons:

1st. That it proposed to change the present school law, which was passed with great unanimity by the last General Assembly, before the people had given it a trial.

2d. The change proposed was contrary to the Constitution of the State.

3d. That it would injure the school system and degrade it to a system of pauper schools.

4th. That it would be injurious to the cause of education in the State, because it would be an implied declaration by the Convention, that the State would perversely refuse to increase the school fund.

Hon. T. C. Fuller replied in advocacy of the adoption of the report as it was.
To the objections offered by Prof. Mc-Iver, Col. Fuller gave the following reasons:

1st. That education ought to be universal.

2d. That the State ought to afford the best facilities it can for the education of all children who cannot otherwise be educated.

3d. The want of education is the great want in North Carolina. The State has done her best and is unable to raise funds sufficient to give her children more than the mere rudiments of a most imperfect education—a mere pauper education. Declarations of this sort do not well accord with patriotic professions of willingness to educate all.

North Carolina has made an honest effort in behalf of common school education, but she has not done her best.
Let her, if necessary, part by degrees with her interest in all her railroads and other works of internal improvement to raise funds for the purpose of education. These works have never yet put any considerable sum in the treasury, but are growing to be a fruitful source of corruption, political and otherwise. If we cannot raise the necessary funds this way, let us do it by taxation. We should submit to burdensome taxation, if necessary, to educate the children of our State.

It is funds that we need, and not an alteration of the common school law.
The law is good enough, but the funds are needed. We can raise the funds if we are willing to submit to the burden, and it is our duty to do so.

Pending further discussion, the Convention adjourned till 3 o'clock p. m.

Captain Dugger, of Warren, opposed the resolution principally on account of the prescribed time for the operation of the schools. Though engaged in the capacity of a teacher of a higher school, he was nevertheless a firm friend and advocate of the common schools and thought the best teachers should be employed for this purpose.

He was willing himself and thought others engaged in higher schools should devote all their spare moments and vacation to the teaching of the Primary Schools, either white or colored.
Strike out this clause and he favored the adoption of the report.

Maj. Bingham was in favor of the resolution and ably advocated the adoption of the resolution as a whole.
He spoke of the present worthless school system, that even with the appropriation of $250,000 by the State there were but few common schools in existence in the State. In his county, Orange, he did not know of but one in operation, and should this sum, now already too small, be devoted in part to graded schools, little or no good would be accomplished.

Hon. J. W. Norwood in reply said: I rise to make suggestion only, not to speech. I am in favor of the principle of the resolution. The school income is $250,000, and it is inadequate for the pupils; $250,000 cannot educate 350,000 children. And sir, you cannot raise more money by taxation. There is an insuperable constitutional difficulty in the way. The constitution provides that three-fourths of the poll tax shall be applied to education. But as things are the colored people get the benefit of the largest share of the fund, and they do not pay the tax, and they may never be neglected but at the hazard
of consequences which no friend of humanity can contemplate without fearful apprehension.

And you can only get the difficulty out of your way by a constitutional amendment, requiring every voter to exhibit the sheriff's receipt for his taxes before he is allowed to vote.

Without this change you have got all the money you can get. The present law puts the question to the people raise more school money by taxation and they have refused to do it.

Mr. K. C. Badger stated the temper of the present Legislature of which he was a member in regard to the matter now under discussion; that it would not in his opinion levy a larger tax for school purposes, and to utilize what we have now, he would favor the adoption of the report as a whole.

Mr. J. W. Holden said that he had moved the adoption of the report as a whole because of its broad, catholic spirit, and that he felt it his duty to mention—which is, that in this university, supported by the taxes of the people, and thus supported by all denominations, the different churches should be represented in the faculty according to taxes paid by these churches and the patronage extended to the university. The Lutheran church, for instance, would not be entitled to as many members in the faculty as the Presbyterian church, and just in proportion to the numbers of a church, the wealth of a church, and the number of students supplied by a church, should be represented in the election of the teachers of such a school. We should, by all means seek to keep our youth at home, to have them educated among our own people. We are losing largely by sending our boys to institutions in other States. There are financial difficulties in the way of reviving the University, but it can be done; the Baptists are ready to aid in this good work.

Dr. Craven said, I am distinctly in favor of a University on a broad, just, liberal basis; not a State college as Chapel Hill was before the war, not simply a curriculum college supported by the State and called a University; but a University in the proper sense, fit to receive and carry on the graduates of our colleges. To this end I will work as zealously and persistently as any man; not to create "leaders for the people" as was said yesterday, not because our denominational colleges do not afford as profound instruction as any State college does or ever did; not because denominational influence is unfavorable to the development of intellect, but to afford proper facilities for the broadest and best collegiate, Mr. Fuller, and the other gentlemen on that side of the question, met his hearty concurrence; but he disagreed with them in their conclusions.

He was opposed to the third resolution, and in favor of Prof. McIver's amendment. That resolution looked to a violation of the Constitution. Every child in the State between six and twenty-one years of age has a right under the Constitution to an education at the expense of the State. If you open the schools but four months in the year, and to the branches taught to reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, and the elementary principles of geography, it is apparent that many of the youths can receive no benefit under the common school system. If you have the right to deprive all of that benefit, I go as far as my friend, Mr. Fuller, or any man in favor of the education of all classes, and am glad to see that we all seem to be a unit in this respect.

But when you adopt this resolution you are in favor of the present financial condition of the University. He was in favor of the reorganization of the college through his denomination (the Baptist) had never had a full professor in the faculty, that it was one of the largest tax paying denominations in the State.

Prof. McIver made a detailed statement of the condition of the college, showing how the debt of $80,000, now hanging over it, was contracted, &c.

Rev. Neill McKay made an able and lengthy speech in support of the resolution. He was glad to see the liberality displayed by the Presidents of the denominational colleges, present in the body of the convention, and also the leading Ministers of the various churches, towards the revival of the University. We sincerely regret that our space necessarily prevents a synopsis of the excellent address.

Mr. Argo offered a resolution that in the reorganization of the University all political or church influence will be removed.

Dr. Pritchard said that while no man on this floor was more in favor of the revival of the University than himself, and that he would work for it with pen and tongue, when revived he should claim a fair representation of his denomination in the faculty.

Pending further discussion the Convention at 6 o'clock adjourned till 8:30 o'clock p. m.

The Convention met at 8:30 o'clock p. m. Dr. Craven, Vice-President, in the chair.

The report is necessarily crowded out of this issue for want of space.

PROMPT PAYMENT.—The following from Newbern, concerning the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, explains itself:

NEWBERN, N. C., June 21st, 1873.
John Hutchinson, Esq., Agent of the Connecticut Mutual Insurance Co. of Hartford, Connecticut:

DEAR SIR:—I take pleasure in saying that I have this day received from you, from Mr. Samuel D. Wait, General Agent of the above named Company, in full settlement of policy No. 83323 on the life of the late John D. Flanner Five thousand, two hundred and three dollars and thirty-six cents; $5000 was for the amount of the Policy and $303 36 for the accumulated dividends, to the credit of his Policy.

The prompt payment of this loss, and others, paid in this city, by this Company will aid increased confidence in the public mind, of the Company's ability and intention to pay promptly, all losses they may have, with those who insure with them.

Standard is Republican in politics, and therefore we can extend it our good wishes only in a pecuniary point of view, sincerely hoping that its political career will result in a stupendous failure. Mr.

we are sure that he will give his readers a readable and good paper.

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE.— The fall session of this College commences on the 27th prox., under the Presidency of Rev. T. M. Jones. The new building at Greensboro is one of the most magnificent in the State, and is a great improvement on the one destroyed by fire several years ago. Before and during the war no institution in the South excelled this in reputation, and its faculty stood in the front rank of instructors. To day the faculty is nearly the same as in former years, and the College again starts anew on a career of usefulness. The advertisement will be found in another column.

Conkling Tendered the Chief Jus-of the City of Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 10th.—A World's special says that the Chief Justiceship has been tendered to Conkling.

The statement of a passenger on the City of Washington charges that the loss of the steamer is due to the criminal carelessness of the officers and crew, and that they just barely escaped being engulfed. He says the lead was never hove once, and no one had an idea where the ship was. "We had on board a Captain, as a passenger, who has crossed the ocean scores of times, and he frequently warned the Chief Officer that he was running too far northward, and advised him to run down a hundred miles or so to the southward to get the sun and see where they were. His advice was rudely declined. The Second Officer I believe coincided in this view."

charges against them: First, murder in violation of the laws of war. The specifications repeats the facts already known. Three witnesses have been examined, T. J. Riddle, his Indian wife Mammy Toby, and L. D. Rye. Toby swears positively that Captain Jack shot Gen. Canby, Schonchin Mr. Meacham, Boston Charley Dr. Thomas and that Hooker Jim tried to kill L. D. Rye.

It was also sworn that Branch knocked her down

ORGANIZATION OF THE STATE GRANGE.

The Patrons of Husbandry organized Wednesday their State Grange for North Carolina.

It appears from the proceedings that twenty-five subordinate Granges have been organized by Col. Aiken—ten more than are required by the Constitution of the order to entitle North Carolina to a State Grange.

We have before given in full the purposes and plans of this movement among the farmers, and have approved of them in the main.

We believe the object to be a laudable one. Farmers, especially those in the South, should organize for self-protection and self-improvement. Associated effort in any honest and useful calling has many advantages and deserves to be encouraged. There is no reason why persons interested in agriculture should not have their own societies, as do physicians, merchants, mechanics and literary men. Farmers have their own grievances that demand to be remedied and it is right and proper they should use all legitimate means to advance their own interests and to improve their condition. No one can reasonably object to this.

So long as the Patrons of Husbandry keep in the proper channel—so long as they refrain from officious intermeddling with politics—so long as they pursue their intentions in a discreet, prudent, lawful manner, it will be unfair and unjust to assail and denounce them.

By their fruits let them be judged. Let us accord them a fair trial before we undertake to say that they are wrong, or wicked, or pernicious.

When designing and dangerous men shall become their masters—when the organization is diverted from its original purpose, and made an engine of oppression, crime, or corruption, then we shall not hesitate to speak out and condemn it unsparingly.

The members of the Granges with whom we have conversed, protest that it is not political, any more than our churches, or our benevolent societies, or our merchants' exchanges. There is no obligation resting upon the individual members to support any political party or to vote for any man for any political or other office. But there is danger, in our opinion, of the organization being prostituted to political ends, unless persistent efforts are made to keep it out of the mire and filth of party cess-pools.

We would like to see the secrecy feature abolished. We believe the farmers can, in the light of day and before the world, proclaim their objects and go forward in an open, manly, independent way, to consummate them.

Secret societies, unless for benevolent purposes, have often proved dangerous to the community. A secret association by one class very naturally leads to secret associations by other classes, and thus we may have the country filled with various secret societies, with conflicting interests and in real or fancied hostility—resulting possibly in the end in social disorders and anarchy.

We are told however, there is really very little that is secret in the Patrons' Granges—just enough to give the movement consistency, strength and permanency. We are of opinion that that little can be done away with without injury to the order, and we are in hopes that it will yet be done. If time shall prove that we are mistaken in our objections on the score of the secrecy feature, then we shall gladly acknowledge our error.

In the selection of William S. Battle, Esq., of Edgecombe, for Master of the State Grange, the Patrons have made a most excellent and judicious selection. Mr. Battle is well known throughout the State as a successful manufacturer and an extensive farmer, and as a gentleman of fine practical judgment, of remarkable prudence and unblemished integrity. He is one of our most enterprising, useful and patriotic citizens.

It would be an exceedingly difficult matter to find in the limits of the State a more suitable person to be at the head of an organization of farmers.

Dr. Columbus Mills, of Cabarrus, who is Overseer or Vice-President, is also favorably known in the Western section of the State, and is a gentleman of character and influence. Upon the whole, the Patrons have done remarkably well in the selection of their officers, and have thus made an auspicious beginning in our State.

Our paper is devoted to all the material interests of North Carolina, and among these the agricultural interests occupy a front rank. If the Patrons of Husbandry shall prove a useful and beneficent institution, we shall give it credit for all the good it may accomplish.

AN IMPORTANT RAILROAD SUIT—INJUNCTION GRANTED.

We have just been shown a copy of the complaint filed by Thomas Webb, plaintiff, against the North Carolina Railroad Company and the Richmond & Danville Railroad Company, defendants, in which the causes set forth therein, the plaintiff asks that an injunction forthwith issue, commanding the Richmond & Danville Company to abstain from changing the gauge of the North Carolina Road; also that the Richmond & Danville Company be ordered to surrender and deliver over the entire property of the North Carolina Company received by them by virtue of the alleged lease—that the said lease be surrendered up and cancelled, and that in the meantime a receiver be appointed to take charge of the Road and to hold and manage the same until the further order of the Court.

Application was made to his Honor, William J. Clarke, at Chambers in this city, on the 9th inst., to grant the said injunction. It appearing to his Honor that sufficient ground existed for the injunction, he ordered and adjudged that the defendants and all other persons be restrained and enjoined from changing the gauge of the North Carolina Railroad track until the further order of the Court, and requiring the plaintiff to enter into a bond of twenty thousand dollars as indemnity to the defendants.

ELECTION DAY THURSDAY, AUGUST THE SEVENTH.

We are glad to see several of our State exchanges are calling attention to the importance of the election on the Constitutional Amendments, on the first Thursday in August.

All the amendments proposed are of great moment, and passed the Legislature by the votes of both parties.

There is danger that on account of the apathy existing among the masses the amendments may be lost by default. Our able cotemporary, the Wilmington Journal well remarks:

"It behooves every man, therefore, who has the good of the State at heart and who has his own welfare at heart, to go to the polls on election day and vote for the amendments."

The changes they will effect in our laws promise to be too beneficial to us for us to permit them to be lost by apathy or indifference.

We now have one last opportunity to throw off the great burden that is crushing us to the earth. Let us resolve to take advantage of it."

THE STATE EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION.

At the time we write this article, the labors of the State Educational Convention have not been completed. Our local columns will give the result of the proceedings, and we will comment thereon in our next.

In point of the ability, numbers and character of the delegates, the Convention is a gratifying success.

What it shall do for the cause of education—what practical good it shall accomplish or shall put in the train of accomplishment, will be better known after its deliberations are concluded.

In the meantime we take pleasure in expressing our gratification at the deep interest manifested by a number of our most prominent teachers and citizens in the vital cause, which the Convention was called to consider.

AN UNPUBLISHED POEM.

We gave our readers yesterday a poem on LAKE DRUMMOND, written by the late Gilbert Elliott, of Elizabeth City. We have been furnished with the manuscript of another effusion by the same author, which was never in print. It was written about the same time with that on LAKE DRUMMOND, and refers to the same trip. It is as follows:

WRITTEN AFTER RETURNING FROM LAKE DRUMMOND.

JUNE, 1837.

We went in search of pleasure,
We sought it not in vain;
And those who shared the treasure Have wished for it again.

The breezes fanned us sweetly, As near the lake we drew;
With music charmed completely, It burst upon our view.

Our bark was wafted gently O'er ripples lightly tossed;
What happy drew us faintly In real joy was lost.

All hearts were free from sadness,
All faces wore a smile, While melody and gladness, Did every thought beguile.

During a recent civil service examination in the Interior Department the candidates for admission to clerkships were asked to state the distance of the planet Saturn from the earth. One candidate answered that he was unable to state the distance in miles, but did not think it was sufficiently near to interfere with him in the performance of his duties as a clerk or to get him into any of the rings. His case is yet under advisement. Washington Correspondence Boston Globe.

PROPOSALS FOR CITY PUMPS.

Bids will be received by James C. King, Chief of Police of the City of Raleigh, to keep City Pumps in repair for the period of one year from the acceptance of the bid. By virtue of Ordinances of the City, the Pumps of the City are now placed under the supervision of the Street Commissioner, who is required to note all repairs and the contractor to comply with the contract to keep the Pumps in repair; and for every failure, after twenty-four hours notice, the contractor shall be fined one dollar per day out of order; it is made the duty of the Street Commissioner to report any failure and the fines resulting therefrom, at the next regular meeting of the Board of Commissioners, after such failure shall have occurred. Sundays are excepted as to notification and fines. The Street Commissioner is empowered to annul so much of the contract as may apply to any five Pumps in their discretion, and the contractor is further provided that the contractor shall clean out such well or wells as the Street Commissioner may direct in blank form for bidders. Stock and fixtures must be supplied new within 15 days after the contractor shall have been notified by the Street Commissioner that the same have been dug and walled in, and failure to do so within the time mentioned shall subject the contractor to the same forfeitures as for failure to keep the pumps in repair.

The successful bidder will be required to give bond for the faithful performance of the contract, conditioned as hereinbefore set forth, and as set forth in the order, which can be had by applying to the Clerk of the City.

All bids must be sealed up, addressed to James C. King, Chief of Police of the City of Raleigh, and must be endorsed "Proposals to keep City Pumps in order."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BILLON'S.—If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, despondent, have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly in morning, irregular appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only a part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been found to effect perfect cures, leaving the system strengthened and healthy. Sold by all first-class druggists.

How unnecessary the anguish many persons undergo from rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache and earache. We can relieve them by the application of Mexican Mustang Liniment to the affected part, or a few drops of it in the ear, or on the face, will relieve the pain, and better, permanent relief. For cuts, wounds, bruises, swellings, and all injuries of the skin which require treatment, extract of this Liniment is everywhere regarded as the most potent and reliable healing agent in existence. For all external injuries of the limbs of horses and cattle, it is invaluable.

TO A RAIN DROP.

Half, jewel! pendent on the grassy blade, Now dimly seen amid a transient shade, Anon resplendent, like a bridal maid,
The ruby now, the sapphire next we trace:
Thou tremblest at his kisses, half afraid,
And half inclined—
How many hues of beauty charm the face?
For three successive rays each other chase:
The ruby now, the sapphire next we trace:
Thou tremblest at his kisses, half afraid,
And half inclined—
O, fairy creature! Whither hast thou come?
Was the Atlantic once thy stormy home?
Or didst thou through the mild Pacific roam, Mid coral isles,
And thence ascend to the ethereal dome
With saintly smiles?
Hast thou, in clouds of richest colors blended,
On rising suns and setting suns attended?
Or hast thou shone in bars of beauty splendid
In the rainbow's robe?
Or hast thou in a misty chariot whined Around our globe?
Alas! thou answerest not, thou brilliant mote!
Thou shinest on in silence absolute;
The wanderings of thy restless foot, Thou canst not tell;
And soon thou shalt resume thy pilgrim's route,
Nor sigh farewell!

Antiquity of Umbrellas.

Dr. Morrison, the great missionary to China, states that there is mention made of umbrellas and parasols in books printed in China more than one thousand five hundred years ago, and that that most wonderful traveler, Layard, relates that he discovered on the ruins of Nineveh, in his relief, a representation of a being in a chariot, with an attendant holding an umbrella over his head. In India we find the umbrella has also been used in remote ages, and principally as an emblem of royalty, its shape differing very little from those of modern use. In Burma the Princes use a very large umbrella, and it requires an extra attendant to carry it, and his position is recognized as one in the royal household. One of the titles of the King is as follows: "King of the white elephant and lord of the twenty-four umbrellas." The Emperor of China, who never does anything on a small scale (if he can help it), has no fewer than twenty-four umbrellas carried before him when he goes out hunting. It is used in that country as a defense against rain as well as sun, and is principally made of a sort of glazed silk or paper beautifully painted. We find umbrellas mentioned as in use, or at least known, in England 140 years ago. In Cambridge, we read that early in the last century umbrellas were let out on hire for so much per hour, like sedan chairs. Jonas Hanway, the founder of a hospital in London, had the custom to carry habitually an umbrella. He died in 1786, and it is said that he carried an umbrella for thirty years; so the date of their introduction for general use may be said to date from 1756.

THE SHAH'S TALISMANS.—The Paris Figaro says that the Shah's baggage contains two hundred talismans, four of which it describes. One is a gold star of five points, and supposed to have been possessed by the legendary Rustem. It is called Merzoum, and has the reputation of making compasses immediately confess. When the Shah's brother was accused of treason, some time since, the star was shown him, and, terrified and overcome by remorse, he avowed his iniquities. His confession was, of course, attributed to its efficacy. He was banished. The next important talisman is a cube of amber which fell from heaven in Mahomet's time. It is supposed to render the Shah invulnerable, and he wears it about his neck. Another is a little box of gold, set in emeralds and blessed by the prophet. It renders the royal family invulnerable as they are in the combat. The Shah had, however, numerous wives before it came into his possession. Another is a diamond set in one of his scimitars, which renders its possessor invulnerable, and there is also a dagger with the same property, but it is ordained that those who use it should perish by it. It is, therefore, carefully kept shut up in a sandal-wood box, on which is engraved a verse of the Koran.
